CASABLANCA

Despite disappointment, if nothing unusual leaks from the closed doors of the Casablanca conference, Secrecy will enshroud preparations for the offensives planned by Roosevelt and Churchill, and the combined staffs. The first step will be to sweep the Axis from North Africa, in itself a major operation, and then build up the force for an attack somewhere on the continent of Europe. The big development of the war thus far, is that Germany and her allies could not force an invasion before America mobilized! Now we are about ready to strike. It is our timing at bat. Work, sacrifice, and pray for Victory.

Storekeeper's Troubles

Many men in retail trade will say it is no fun keeping store in wartime. The regular customers of a store are likely to complain if they do not get their share of some scarce article. Then if people who are not regular customers come around and ask for that scarce article, they will probably complain if they think the store is holding that article for its regular customers, and is not giving it out freely to anyone who comes along.

When some commodity gets scarce, people go from store to store, and it is likely to run short in a brief time unless some restriction is put on sales. Some people will get their supply of such an article, and then send their children out to get some more. If the man behind the counter does not recognize those children, that family may get more than its share of such a scarce commodity. And some folks are so persistent in going from store to store, that the short supply of a scarce article is soon exhausted.

The store people thus have a job on their hands to keep everyone satisfied, and to keep some people from getting more of some article than they are really entitled to. The store people have shown admirable patience and judgment in handling the public, and are entitled to warm thanks for their courtesy.

Rationing systems are the best way to handle scarce commodities. Some people may have thought that such regulation is likely to be troublesome, but it tends to regulate the supply of essentials of life and to allow every family to get its fair share. The commodity that was constantly running short before rationing, may prove to be sufficient for real needs when rationing goes into effect.—Peninsula Enterprise.

Flynn Hearings

We have had two Flynn hearings. Betcha more interest was aroused in that of Errol.

DWINDLING PROMISES

What must be the frame of mind of German people who were assured two years ago that a triumphant peace was as good as won ... are now told that the hardest tasks still lie ahead? We do not know the answer to that question. Certainly we cannot afford to build our plans on the expectation of an early breakdown of German morale. But in millions of darkened homes from Hamburg to the Black Forest there must have been strange and troubled thoughts on News Year's Eve, as the German people contemplated the holocaust of German life in Russia, the growing power of the British Air Force to deal deadly blows and the specter of the still fresh and unexpended resources of America and the New World. —New York Times.

FIVE WAYS TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE AXIS

You Don't Have to Hail Hitler!

1. Listen attentatively and passively to every rumor that reaches your ears. Repeat the story as quickly and as often as you can. When possible combine stories and exaggerate to the limit. This is most helpful. Miss no opportunity to discredit our officials, our Allies or other races.

2. Brand all efforts for Home Defense activities as utter nonsense and encourage everyone to agree with you.

3. Fight your part of the war single-handed. Be sure that you do everything to suit your easiest convenience. YOU know all the answers! Don't let anyone tell YOU what to do!

4. Convince yourself and everyone you meet that any sort of rationing is dood foolishness— give the rationing board hell. Don't ever look repeating any stories you hear that are discrediting to the rationing boards. Chisel everytime you can to get more than your share of scarce articles.

5. Proclaim loudly your willingness to do all you can but have ready excuses if you are asked to do anything—make no preparations in your home or place of business for blackouts—Don't expose yourself to Civilian Defense or First Aid instruction, you might get another idea of your duty to yourself and the Nation.

—From Tidewater Review.

The Ones That Got Away

Naval Minister Shimada tells the Japanese that 38 per cent of the American, British and Netherlands ships have been sunk, but warns of dire days ahead. You ought to see the ones that got away, Mr. Shimada. And, come to think of it, you will.—Greensboro Daily News.

TOOTHPASTE TUBES IN WAR

Since last April you have been turning in an old toothpaste or shaving tube for every new one you buy. You may have wondered what goes with the old tubes.

Up to the first of October, 1,168,000 pounds of old metal tubes were received for reclamation by the government's tin salvagers. In those old tubes there were 513,920 pounds of tin, of which 260,000 pounds already have been made available to war industries. Today the output of reclaimed metal is at the rate of 160,000 pounds a month.

Sixty old toothpaste tubes provide enough tin to solder all of the electrical connections in a fighting plane; 240 will do the same job in a flying fortress; 40 pounds of the reclaimed metal are sufficient for the heavy bearings of a tank.

So keep on turning in your old tubes.—Old Dan City Times.

According to Plan

Of the Nazi-Vichy-Mussolini forces which are reported as "detachments and cannibalized for greater use elsewhere," it is to be hoped that their "evacuation" and cannibalization are proceeding according to plan." The plan, it may not be clear from the above, was to get for home.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

INVESTIGATE, GOVERNOR!

We have just read the sensational articles "Norfolk, Our Worst War Town," in the February issue of The American Mercury. If even a portion of the conditions described therein are true, Governor Darden should order an immediate investigation to ascertain what steps the State can take to correct what appears to be Virginia's sore spot.

There are no charges against the local city government of Norfolk. It is simply a war situation which no city or county government alone can handle. The Governor should name a capable investigating committee, and then the State should pitch in with whatever help is necessary.

STATE DEBT

State treasurer W. Tayloe Murphy has reported to Governor Darden that investment of the $15,000,000 appropriated by the regular and special sessions of the 1942 General Assembly from the Commonwealth's surplus for the retirement of the state debt has now been completed, and the saving to the state will be almost $1,000,000 greater than that expected four months ago when the General Assembly was called to consider the liquidation plan.

JESUS AFFIRMS HIS DEITY

LESSON TEXT—John 8:12, 25-36, 56-59.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that hath seen me hath seen the Father.—John 14:9.

"The Light of the World Is Jesus!" Who does not remember with what delight we as children sang, "Come to the light, 'tis shining for thee . . . The light of the world is Jesus."

How precious was the truth that thus flooded our souls. Jesus is the light. Just as the sunlight sheds its glory on an awakening world at dawn, so He alone has shed the light of God in the hearts of men. As this portion of God's Holy Word is studied and taught, may the light break forth on many a soul caught in the bewilderment of this dark world.

But that is only one of the great thoughts around which our lesson centers. As Jesus here reveals Himself as divine, we consider four simple words, each fraught with rich meaning.

I. Light (v. 12).

The text says: "Then spake Jesus." When? Just after He had silenced the hypocritical accusers of a woman taken in sin, and had spoken the word of peace to her troubled soul. She was to "go and sin no more" because she had met Him who is the light of the world. They that follow Him "shall not walk in darkness"; they are the children of light, they have the very light of life shining in their hearts and lives.

Not only does Jesus light the believer's heart, but this light shines into all the dark corners of this wicked world, exposing sin and hypocrisy, and showing the way back to God.

II. Salvation (vv. 25-30).

"Who art thou?" That is the question every man must ask and answer as he considers Jesus. Even neglect is an answer—a rejection.

The answer of Christ in these verses goes to the very heart of the matter, for He takes the people right to the cross of Calvary. When they had crucified Him, they would know. Did not the centurion say: "Truly this was the Son of God" (Matt. 27:54)?

It is true today that no man knows Christ until he knows Him as the crucified Savior. Teacher, Example, Guide—all these He is—but they are not enough, for we sinners need a Saviour. May many today follow the example of verse 30.

III. Freedom (vv. 31-36).

Free! Four letters, but what a depth of meaning! Chains have fallen off, prison doors are open. The one who was bound is free.

But here we are announced with an even more important liberty, the freedom of the soul. Many there are who boast of their independence but who are naught but slaves. Jesus said: "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin" (v. 34), not its master.

How shall they be freed? Note three things in these verses:

(1) A condition, "If ye continue in my word." This means not only a profession of faith, but a daily appropriation and realization of His truth in life.

(2) A promise, "Ye shall know the truth." The philosophies of men profess to be a seeking after truth, but how few there are who look to the one place where it can be found —in Jesus Christ.

(3) A result, "The truth shall make you free." Truth always sets free. Men are enslaved because, as in some foreign lands, they have not had the opportunity to learn the truth or because they have rejected it.

Men profess to seek truth in their research and in the process of education, but without Christ they cannot have real truth. Educational systems which rule Him out are deficient and lead to bondage rather than freedom.

IV. Eternity (vv. 56-59).

Taking up their statement that they were Abraham's children (see vv. 33, 37), Jesus enters into the sharpest controversy with the unbelieving Jews of His entire earthly ministry. They were claiming kinship with a great man of faith who in his day had looked forward to the coming of Christ (v. 56). Now He was here, and instead of receiving Him as their Messiah they were ready to kill Him.

Not only did they claim Abraham as father, but also God. Jesus told them that in their sin and unbelief they were of their "father the devil." It is possible, then, to be very religious, to follow the traditions of one's fathers, and yet to be children of the devil.

All this led up to their sharp rebuke in verse 57, which denied to Christ anything but an earthly existence and which led Him to the statement of His eternity. He identified Himself definitely and clearly with the Eternal One—the great I AM of Exodus 3:14.

Christ is God, and is therefore "infinite, eternal, and unchangeable in His being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth" (Westminster Catechism).

NEW PASTOR OF THE EVERGREEN BAPT. FIELD

REV. A. C. LAWSON

A Thought for Today - - -

By A. C. Lawson, Evergreen, Va.

"My cup runneth over." Psalm 23:5.

In the shepherd Psalm, we hear David saying, "The Lord is my Shepherd," and he was so thrilled with the fact that he said, "My cup runneth over."

When we come into a saving relationship with Christ and know that He is our Shepherd and our Savior, that He has a mansion for us in Heaven and will lead us on until we reach the Heavenly home, it is enough to raise a triumphant shout in our souls and to make our cups of joy run over.

Paul said, "Rejoice ever more." And we see Christians, born anew, born from above, new creatures in Christ Jesus, we should be the happiest people on earth, for we have son thine to rejoice for.

Jesus said, "In the world ye shall hav. tribulation, but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world and all of its difficulti s." Then, through Him and His power we can overcome all things and be victorious, now and forever more.

And as we follow and serve Him, our cups of joy will naturally run over, and this will flow out to others and bless them also. Let us let our light so shine that others may see our good works, and glorify our Father which is in Heaven.

If we are to have our cups of joy full and running over, we must keep the way clean and let nothing between. The greatest need today is more spirit-led and spirit- filled Christians. And in order for this to be so and real in our lives we must listen to His voice as He calls us onward and upward to the heights sublime.

JESUS CALLS US

Jesus calls us, o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea,
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth,
Saying, "Christian, follow me."

Don't leave your farm job.

There are many reports of sickness in the county.

Plant a Victory garden

Don't be a Hoarder.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother and wife, Edna W. Jenkins, who died 10 years ago, January 2, 1933.

Each year as days today, dear, your eyes were closed in death.
For us we try to still think of you,
As a daughter and husband were
Glad you left.
It was hard to give you up, dear,
For your place so short was run,
But we know upon our darling
There now shines a brighter sun.
Oh! My darling how you suffered,
Your pain no mortal tongue can tell,
But the Bible gives assurance
That Jesus doeth all things well.
Some day we hope to meet you,
When no sorrows ever come,
And with Jesus there to greet us,
In that beautiful home.
